X2 in-dash Infotainment System

This year XiteSolutions North America Inc. delivered its new feature-rich X2 in-dash Infotainment System applicable for six-, seven-, and 10-inch models. The company reported in a press release that this new platform provides RV drivers with Rand McNally's award winning RV Navigation, Wi-Fi connected services and whole coach entertainment using their House Mode feature.

Leveraging Rand McNally's latest navigation software and Wi-Fi capabilities, users can now access live weather, traffic and fuel price overlays and powerful local search tools.

"The evolution of Rand McNally's navigation solutions continues to lead the market," said Suzie Mitchell, director of operations, Xite Solutions North America. "It's very powerful and can put money back into the users pocket. By applying filters, our Infotainment System, effectively searches for the exact amenities you need and combines the current fuel prices. It's beyond any gas app out there and it pays to use it."

House Mode is a new feature for XSNA's induction into whole coach entertainment. This feature provides entertainment and information to all areas of the coach – whether wanting to listen to satellite radio while barbecuing outside or Bluetooth streaming music from your hand-held device throughout the coach, programming the next day's travels from bed or checking cameras to ensure your coach is safe.

With OEMs transitioning to cleaner, more streamlined dashes, aesthetics have become an important component of XSNA's evolving design process. "We aim to match brand expectations of the OEM customer base" said Mitchell. "We've come a long way with our outstanding partners and look forward to expanding those relationships. We are committed to working with our customers to continue creating innovative and fresh products in the years to come."

XSNA products are distributed exclusively through RiverPark Inc. For more information, call (800) 442-7717 or (574) 522-7781.
